

FARAMA

OUR PHILOSOPHY

The FARAMA philosophy has always been based on the principle of quality before quantity. Never bowing to the whims of ephemeral fashion, we have always held on to solid and lasting values. We develop seating that does more than merely look good. Virtually every product contains a small technical sensation that goes way beyond the bounds of simple design to make a contribution towards providing the ultimate in comfort. Although we cling to the tried and tested in our manufacturing processes, innovation is one of the crucial forces behind our success. To us, being innovative means showing great willingness to learn and change. We don't wait for success to come to us - we make it happen it. We are proud to be able to make a contribution towards the quality of people's lives with our attractive and functional furniture.

Traditions, those little rituals passed down from generation to generation that help your family by creating a sense of unity, warmth and closeness. They create memories that fill your mind with peace, love, happiness, and security.
